ACADEMIC PROJECTS

A Study on Service Quality Gaps in E-Commerce Industry (01/2019 - 03/2019)

- The Service Quality Gaps have not been studied in the e-commerce industry. I don't know how they are qualified and quantified. In this project I have defined the service quality parameters. I have found out the gap between perceived and expected service quality based on the service quality parameters.

Study of Granite Processing Unit (09/2018 - 11/2018)

- The widespread nature and the limited regions or availability of granite which is one of the most common stones used in the construction works and the competition and its reserves are causing problems in the industry as well as granite quarry operators not being in a position to manage the supply & demand.
- This being the issue within the granite industry leads the searcher to observe some of the operational bottlenecks from Dheeraj Granites in order to be able to draw inference using theoretical frameworks to be able to overcome or provide some solutions to gaps.
