ACADEMIC PROJECTS

1. Content Based Lecture Video Retrieval Using Video Text Information
   Programming language: JAVA
   Final year project

   There is huge increase in the amount of lecture video data on web, in such a scenario retrieval of appropriate video becomes a problem. The available search engines reply based on available textual metadata. Generally this metadata is manually created which may be high level, subjective and brief. So, we present an approach for automated video indexing and video search in large lecture video archives. We extract outline of lecture from visual resources using OCR (Optical Character Recognition) technology and calculate the weighting factor for intended keyword using TF-IDF algorithm, Then videos are arranged in decreasing order of the calculated frequency. So content based lecture video retrieval approach presents an appropriate method to retrieve the desired video more efficiently which is more content specific, and in turn increases learning effectiveness.
